

About Ken Shuman - 2009

Dr. Ken Shuman is a Missional Church consultant. Ken brings 30 years of pastoral and church planting experience to this task. Ken was the founding pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church in Houston, Texas. During his thirteen year ministry at Cornerstone, the church grew from a core of 60 to just under 1,000 members. Ken has first-hand experience with the struggles of leading a congregation through growth and managing change.

Ken was one of the co-founders of LeadersEdge, a leadership development process for pastoral leaders that originated as a ministry of Union Baptist Association in Houston Texas. The principles of LeadersEdge are now being utilized by numerous groups nationally & cross-denominationally. Ken has experience and a network of relationships in the field of leadership development.

Ken served on the team that began Mission Houston, a cross-denominational ministry working to bring transformation to the city of Houston. During his tenure with Mission Houston, Ken gained valuable experience working with leaders from other denominational heritages.

Currently Ken is leading an emerging missional faith community in Tomball, Texas called Wellspring Church. For the last eight years he has been learning what it means to be a "missional church." Wellspring's primary focus is ministering to people with a postmodern worldview.

Ken holds two masters degrees - Master of Religious Education & Master of Divinity - from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Ken holds a Doctor of Ministry degree in Evangelistic Church Growth from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Ken has been married to Becky for thirty-one years. Ken and Becky have two grown daughters.
